THINGS A MOTHER OUGHT TO KNOW

Mothers whose children are weak and run down, who do not gain flesh and strength, who lack rosy cheeks and bright eyes of healthy childhood, should remember that the safest tonic and body builder to give them is Father's Food's Medicine, because it is a pure and wholesome food medicine free from alcohol or dangerous drugs. Thousands of mothers give it to their children whenever they become weakened or run down.

SPORT IN ENGLAND.

A Pheasant Run is Not a Branch of the Poultry Business

"A Plain American in England," by Charles T. Whitfield, is a highly amusing diatribe on the gentle art of British entertainment. It appears in the American Magazine, and in the course of some descriptions of English customs the author relates the following incident, which happened at a pheasant run:

"A friend for whom I have a great admiration took me to see a pheasant run. The place looked just like a big chicken yard such as we have at home. There were hundreds of the birds feeding on scraps and grain thrown to them by the keeper. I had seen straggle of these birds hanging up in the markets for sale at low prices, had bought their eggs in the swill restaurants at high prices, and I naturally supposed that this trade was conducted like any other branch of the poultry business. When you have been in England a short time you realize that you must approach the subject of trade or business with some delicacy, but I longed to know the modus operandi of poultry packing among the swells. I wondered if they could teach our Chicago stockyards anything. So I asked the keeper in my broadest English:

"How do you collect and ship these birds?"

"Collect 'em, sir?"

"Yes," I said, "how do you kill them and get them to market?"

"We don't kill 'em. We send in beaters and shoot 'em. It's great sport, sir."

"That seemed to me a disgusting proposition—to beat a flock of tame, harmless pets to death and shoot them besides—and I remonstrated:

"Why don't you simply wring their necks with a quick twist of the wrist, insuring a rapid and painless death, and then—"

"But my friend grasped me violently by the arm and drew me abruptly away. I felt badly about it, because this good and valuable bird said it would be at least twenty years before he could look that gamekeeper in the face with tranquility."

TOO GOOD A SHAVE.

It Lulled Budd to Sleep: While the Price of Stocks Tumbled.

One of the anecdotes in Joseph L. King's "History of the San Francisco Stock Exchange Board" is as follows:

While stocks were quite low during a spell in 1873 a discovery of ore was made in Ophir, the stock advancing in price. It was the policy of those in control of a Comstock mine to keep secret any improvement until they could secure for themselves a good quantity of the stock.

Budd heard of this Ophir discovery and bought some stock, and as the price advanced from $10 to $85 the profits on his purchases at low figures enabled him to buy more stocks.

Being quite a plunger, he purchased in all 2,500 shares. As the stock still advanced to higher figures he sold about 1,500 shares, leaving him a balance of 1,000 shares when the stock reached $85, which would have given him quite a large profit if all were sold at that figure.

During the recess that day he determined to sell the remainder, which would give him quite a profit. The afternoon session was devoted to the selling of outside stocks, occupying half an hour, after which the members would call up, through the chairman, any of the Comstock shares. Budd, thinking he had time sufficient during that first half hour to get shaved, sat down in a barber's chair and, being quite flush, gave the barber $5, directing him to give him a good shave.

It turned out to be too good a shave, as Budd went to sleep, and the barber, being well paid, devoted quite a time in making his customer appear respectable. Budd woke up, looked at his watch and made a rush for the board. He ascertained that Ophir had been called and had broken so badly that when his stock was sold he only obtained $10 a share for it.

He always claimed that that shave cost him just $40,000.

Sinking Spells Every Few Days

"At the time I began taking Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy I was having sinking spells every few days. My hands and feet would get cold; I could scarcely breathe, and could feel myself gradually sinking away until I would be unconscious. Those about me could not tell there was life in me. After these spells I would be very weak and nervous, sleepless and without appetite; had neuralgia in my head and heart. After taking the remedy a short time all this disappeared and in a few weeks all the heart trouble was gone."

MRS. LIZZIE PAINTER 803 1/2 3d Ave. Evansville, Ind.

For twenty years we have been constantly receiving just such letters as these. There is scarcely a locality in the United States where there is not some one who can testify to the merits of this remarkably successful Heart Remedy.

Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy is sold by all druggists. If the first bottle fails to benefit, your druggist will return your money.
